9                   Plaintiff,

10                  v.

11                  BNSF RAILWAY COMPANY, a
12                  Delaware corporation,

13                  Defendant.

NO. CV-06-172-RHW

ORDER DENYING DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

14                  Before the Court is Defendant's Motion for Summary Judgment (Ct. Rec.
15 201). The motion was heard without oral argument.

16                  BACKGROUND

17                  Plaintiff was a long-term employee of Defendant BNSF Railway Company.
18 He filed the above-captioned action in June 2006, asserting claims under the 19 Federal Employer's Liability Act. He is seeking compensation for hearing loss 20 sustained while being employed by Defendant.

21                  Defendant moves for summary judgment asserting that Plaintiff's claims are 22 barred as a matter of law due to Plaintiff's failure to timely file his claims and by 23 the doctrine of laches, and Plaintiff's claim for negligent assignment of work tasks
24 is precluded by the seniority provisions in the collective bargaining agreement 25 between Defendant BNSF and Plaintiff's union. Defendant also asks the Court to 26 make a determination that, as a matter of law, Plaintiff has a pre-existing hearing 27 loss condition and that Plaintiff's damages, if any, should be reduced or 28

ORDER DENYING DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT ~ 1

1 apportioned based upon damages caused by the pre-existing hearing loss.

2 DISCUSSION

3 A. Standard of Review

4 Summary judgment is appropriate if the “pleadings, depositions, answers to 5 interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show 6 that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is 7 entitled to judgment as a matter of law.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c). There is no
 8 genuine issue for trial unless there is sufficient evidence favoring the non-moving 9 party for a jury to return a verdict in that party’s favor. Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 250 (1986). The party moving for summary judgment bears the 10 initial burden of identifying those portions of the pleadings, discovery, and 11 affidavits that demonstrate the absence of a genuine issue of fact for trial. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 325 (1986). If the moving party meets its initial 12 burden, the non-moving party must go beyond the pleadings and “set forth specific 13 facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.” Id. at 325; Anderson, 477
 14 U.S. at 248.

15 In addition to showing that there are no questions of material fact, the 16 moving party must also show that it is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.
 17 Smith v. Univ. of Washington Law School, 233 F.3d 1188, 1193 (9th Cir. 2000).
 18 The moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law when the non-moving 19 party fails to make a sufficient showing on an essential element of a claim on 20 which the non-moving party has the burden of proof. Celotex, 477 U.S. at 323.

21 When considering a motion for summary judgment, a court may neither 22 weigh the evidence nor assess credibility; instead, “the evidence of the non-movant 23 is to be believed, and all justifiable inferences are to be drawn in his favor.”
 24 Anderson, 477 U.S. at 255. When the evidence yields conflicting inferences, 25 summary judgment is improper, and the action must proceed to trial. Munger v. City of Glasgow Police Dep’t, 227 F.3d 1082, 1087(9th Cir. 2000).

26 ORDER DENYING DEFENDANT’S MOTION FOR SUMMARY
 27 JUDGMENT ~ 2

1      B. Defendant's Arguments

2      Plaintiff filed his complaint on September 9, 2006. Plaintiff is bringing his 3 claims under the Federal Employers' Liability Act (FELA).<sup>1</sup> FELA provides for a 4 3-year statute of limitations.<sup>2</sup> See 45 U.S.C. § 56.

5      Defendant argues that Plaintiff's claims are barred due to his failure to 6 commence this action within the applicable statute of limitations period. Plaintiff 7 asserts that he was unaware that he had an injury until 2004 when his physician
 8 advised him that his hearing loss was not normal for someone his age. Before 9 then, he was ignorant of a work-related hearing loss claim.

10     In 1949, the Supreme Court held that FELA covered occupational diseases.
 11 Urie v. Thompson, 337 U.S. 163, 182 (1949). In that case, the plaintiff had worked 12 for the railroad for almost thirty years and had been exposed to silica dust. Id. at 13 165-66. He suffered from silicosis, a pulmonary disease that left him disabled and 14 unable to work. Id. The question before the Court was whether FELA included 15 injuries in the nature of occupational disease and also addressed the implications of 16 FELA's statute of limitations. There, the Supreme Court observed:

17     It follows that no specific date of contact with the substance can 18 be charged with being the date of injury, inasmuch as the injurious
 19 consequences of the exposure are the product of a period of time 20 rather than a point of time; consequently the afflicted employee can be 21 held to be 'injured' only when the accumulated effects of the 22 deleterious substance manifest themselves.

23     Id. at 171.

24     <sup>1</sup>Every common carrier by railroad while engaging in commerce . . . shall be 25 liable in damages to any person suffering injury while he is employed by such 26 carrier in such commerce . . . for such injury or death resulting in whole or in part 27 from the negligence of any of the officers, agents, or employees of such carrier, or 28 by reason of any defect or insufficiency, due to its negligence, in its cars, engines, appliances, machinery, track, roadbed, works, boats, wharves or other equipment.
 45 U.S.C. § 51.

29     <sup>2</sup>No action shall be maintained under this chapter unless commenced within three years from the day the cause of action accrued. 45 U.S.C. § 56.

1       In United States v. Kubrick, the Supreme Court addressed the statute of 2 limitations of a Federal Tort Claims Act claim. 444 U.S. 111, 120 (1979). In that 3 case, the Court held that a claim accrues when a plaintiff should reasonably have 4 been aware of the critical facts of injury and causation. Id. at 122. Notably,
 5 however, the Court stated that once a plaintiff is in possession of the critical facts 6 of both injury and the governing cause of that injury, the action accrues even 7 though he may be unaware that a legal wrong has occurred. Id. at 122-23.

8       The Court finds that questions of fact exist regarding when Plaintiff knew or 9 should have known the extent and cause of his hearing loss. As such, the answer
 10 must be determined by the jury. See O'Connor v. Boeing North Am., 311 F.3d 11 1139, 1150 (9th Cir. 2002) (finding summary judgment not appropriate for statute 12 of limitations defense for CERCLA claims where questions of fact existed regarding 13 whether plaintiffs knew or should have known that contamination caused their 14 disease). Similarly, these questions of fact preclude the Court from ruling on the 15 doctrine of laches defense and whether Plaintiff has a pre-existing condition.

16       Finally, the Court declines to grant summary judgment on Plaintiff's 17 negligent work assignment claim. Defendant attempts to narrowly define 18 Plaintiff's FELA claim. However, courts have consistently recognized the broad 19 reach of FELA. “[A]lthough railroad companies do not insure against accidents
 20 and the plaintiff in FELA cases still bears the burden of proving negligence, courts
 21 have held that only ‘slight’ or ‘minimal’ evidence is needed to raise a jury question
 22 of negligence under FELA.” Mendoza v. Southern Pac. Transp. Co., 733 F.2d 23 631, 632 (9th Cir. 1984) (internal citations omitted). Liability may be found where 24 “employer negligence played any part, even the slightest, in producing the 25 injury . . .” Oglesby v. Southern Pac. Transp. Co., 6 F.3d 603, 607 (9th Cir. 1993)
 26 (quoting Rogers v. Missouri Pac. R.R., 352 U.S. 500, 506 (1957)). Plaintiff's 27 claims under FELA are broader than an ADA-accommodation type claim as 28 presented by Defendant in their motion.
